

It has been my privilege to serve as the QSP SIG Director of Communications for the past two years. Together we've laid a starting point for an impactful Communications and Social Media Strategy. I would like to continue my involvement with the QSP SIG and would like to be considered for the Vice Chair role. I've worked diligently in both industry and academia to educate on and prove the value that QSP can bring to pharmaceutical and biotechnology research. I believe my many years of experience, my passion for our field, and my relationships within our community would be valuable assets to the QSP SIG Leadership team (and it is fun!!).
